KOOSTRA NAMED YAMAHA SCHOLARSHIP RECIPIENT

MISSOULA--

Barbara Koostra, Missoula, a sophomore at the University of Montana, has been selected by the UM music faculty to receive a Yamaha scholarship award, according to Robert Kiley, dean of the UM School of Fine Arts.

The University is one of 12 universities and conservatories in the United States invited by Yamaha International Corp. to name 1975 Yamaha award recipients, the dean said. The award consists of a $1,000 scholarship and a professional model of a Yamaha instrument of the student's choice.

Ms. Koostra is a performance major in the UM Department of Music and a clarinet student of Prof. William Manning. She is a member of the UM Woodwind Quintet and the University Band and has been a member of the Montana Little Symphony. She plays clarinet in the Missoula Symphony Orchestra and was the winner of the Missoula Civic Symphony Association's 1975 Young Artist Competition.

She has participated in the Aspen, Colo., Music Festival and has studied clarinet during summers with Leon Russianoff, Ronald de Kant and Earl Bates.

As a student at Hellgate High School, Missoula, she consistently won superior ratings in state music festivals and was a member of all-state bands and orchestras. She played first clarinet in the United States Honor Band during its 1973 European tour and the same year was selected to play in the All-Northwest Band, Portland, Ore.

Her parents are Dr. and Mrs. Walter L. Koostra of Missoula.
